Your apprentice may be eligible for travel and/or accommodation allowance if you:

- travel to off-the-job training that is funded by the Department of Training and Workforce Development — if you don't know if your training is funded by the Department ask your employer or telephone the Apprenticeship Office on 13 19 54;
- listed on the Department's system as an active, suspended or out of contract apprentice or trainee during the claimed period; and
- have a home address within Western Australia.

Your apprentice may not be eligible for travel and/or accommodation allowance if you:

- have a training status which is withdrawn, cancelled, completed, pending or expired at the time the approved training was undertaken; and
- travel to a registered training provider which is not the closest training venue approved to deliver off-the-job training.

Travel distances and eligibility

There is a minimum round trip distance which must be travelled to claim assistance. This is calculated based on the shortest possible road distance from your usual place of residence to the closest training venue and return.

The minimum road trip distance must be at least:

- 71 kilometres for travel allowance;
- 150 kilometres for accommodation allowance; and
- 1100 kilometres for travel by air.

Note that if you travel in the same vehicle as another trainee/apprentice — only one person can claim the travel component of the allowance

Definition of closest training provider

The closest training provider is the one that has a training venue located the shortest possible road distance from the apprentices/trainees residential address (regardless of the method of transport used to get to the training venue)
